Harford County Executive Barry Glassman Joins Maryland Counties Calling for State to Release CARES Act Funding

BEL AIR, Md., (May 4, 2020) - The first federal CARES Act stimulus passed last month including funding for counties and municipalities. A portion of the $364 million in total funds for Maryland provides reimbursement for local governments' COVID-19 expenses and a portion is for small business relief at the local level. Harford County's share of the total is $44 million.

Maryland's five largest jurisdictions with populations over 500,000 - Baltimore City, Baltimore County, Montgomery County, Prince George's County and Anne Arundel - have already received their funds directly from the federal government and are rolling out programs.

"As Maryland's business shutdown continues, it is imperative that the State releases these funds so that we can get vital small business support out to our communities," County Executive Barry Glassman said. "Small and medium-size Maryland counties deserve to be treated equally when administering federal funds."

County Executive Glassman was among the leaders of 19 Maryland counties who signed a May 1 letter from the Maryland Association of Counties asking Gov. Larry Hogan to immediately release a portion of the funds so that smaller counties can continue purchasing needed supplies, such as PPE, and bring relief to small businesses.

MACo letter attached.

The Honorable Larry Hogan
Governor of Maryland
State House
Annapolis, MD 21401

Dear Governor Hogan,

We write as county leaders with one voice seeking your support to release federal CARES funding to the 19 Maryland counties who did not receive a direct federal block grant. Every county and every resident in Maryland has been impacted by the coronavirus. During this health pandemic, local and state leadership have been working together to protect public health and welfare, support our local economies, and meet the unique needs of our constituents.

It has recently become clear that the State wants to establish a reimbursement model for the 19 counties with populations under 500,000 people. Not only does this model treat counties differently, it costs critical time in putting these dollars to work in our community to help people. The reimbursement model will require smaller counties to forward-fund expenses, something many counties will find difficult - if not impossible - to do. Smaller counties will be unable to stand up programs to accelerate testing, to purchase needed PPE, and to support local businesses without having the flexibility to plan a program and to know there will be reimbursement. Rural and suburban counties need the same flexibility as the larger urban counties to meet the unprecedented needs of our communities.

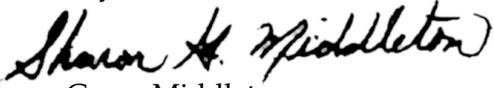

All county leaders are committed to accountability and to following the federal guidelines. We are always accountable for the use of taxpayer money.

In the spirit of collaboration, we suggest a practical solution to allocate half of these distributions as an upfront preliminary distribution, to enable rapid responses across communities. The remaining county and health department allocations could be managed through further applications or distributions consistent with the county's funding plan. The counties are willing to enter grant agreements that require any misspent monies to have to be paid back.

We stand united to express the urgent need for these federal dollars to be made available to all counties immediately to allow us to better help the people we collectively serve. Local governments have the ability to meet the needs of our community quickly and effectively.

We ask for your immediate attention to release these funds and to ensure that all Maryland residents are helped quickly as intended by the federal CARES legislation. Together, we are Maryland Strong.

Yours truly,
