Every home should receive information to access the census form starting in mid-March 2020. Here's why your participation is important:

Census data determine how more than $675 billion in federal funds are distributed into states and communities each year to support essential state and local programs.

Census data help businesses, researchers and communities make important decisions that affect new business development, job creation, new roads and funding for school lunches.

State officials use census data to redraw the boundaries of their congressional districts.

The results determine how many seats each state gets in the U.S. House of Representatives.
