County Executive Hails Another Great Farm Fair

(Bel Air, MD) - - Another Harford County Farm Fair has come and gone, and despite some uncooperative weather the fair was a big success. Harford County Government was on hand to support the fair and meet with constituents.

This year the Office of the County Executive staffed a booth and display that provided fair-goers with information regarding a number of different county initiatives, and County Executive David R. Craig was on hand as well to speak with Harford Countians when they visited the booth.

In addition, the County Executive’s Division of Agriculture and the Ag Preservation Office hosted displays in the barn area where farmers and the general public could speak with the County’s Ag staff.

Both booths promoted the County’s ‘Buy Local’ campaign through informational brochures, giveaways, and by distributing samples of peaches and plums from four of Harford’s orchards – Lohr’s, Shaw, Wilson Mill, and Wilson’s Farm Market.

“I always enjoy the Harford County Farm Fair, and I particularly look forward to attending the livestock sale,” remarked County Executive Craig. “The 4-H’ers work so hard all year to prepare to show and sell their animals and the Farm Fair gives us a chance to recognize the dedication of these young farmers, their parents, and families,” Craig added.

“On behalf of Harford County Government, I thank the 4-H and the Harford County Farm Fair Board for organizing another great event, as well as all of those who volunteered their time and talents,” the county executive stated.
