CHAPTER 1
EXPLORING CHALLENGES

Common Caregiving Concerns
WHAT TO EXPECT

Only 4% of people over 65 live in a nursing home. Seniors, especially those who have taken good care of themselves, can expect to remain active and alert in their later years and function well enough to care for their own needs. Health problems should not be dismissed automatically as simply due to old age; however, certain changes are part of the normal aging process.

By recognizing these changes, you may be able to help your relative adapt:

- VISION tends to worsen with age. Individuals become more far-sighted and their eyes are less able to adjust to changes in light. This may result in problems with glare and difficulties with driving at night.

- HEARING is less acute, especially at higher frequencies. This may cause difficulties in hearing conversation.

- SENSE OF TASTE/SMELL may change leading to a decreased interest in food.

- CHANGES IN SLEEP PATTERNS are common. Seniors may not sleep soundly, take longer to fall asleep, and wake up more often at night or wake very early in the morning. These changes can be disturbing to older people, and they will sometimes try sleep medications, which can be dangerous.

- DIGESTION slows due to tissue and muscular changes and may result in constipation.

- BONES often become thinner, and changes in cartilage tissue also occur. This can sometimes lead to restricted movement, stooped posture and increased risk of fractures. Joints also tend to become stiffer.

- BODY TEMPERATURE may vary as the ability to regulate declines, especially in the arms and legs.

- SKIN becomes more fragile. Skin surface is less sensitive to the touch, so damage may not be noticeable until there is a serious problem.

- BALANCE: Many seniors experience dizziness with sudden changes in body position. Seek medical attention if serious problems with balance or dizziness occur.
CHAPTER 1
EXPLORING CHALLENGES

Signs that Caregiver Support is Needed
KEY SYMPTOMS TO WATCH FOR

☐ Decline in hygiene
☐ Significant gain/loss in weight
☐ Marked changes in eating patterns
☐ Becomes more forgetful or confused
☐ Sleeps much more/less
☐ Unexplained bruises/signs of injury
☐ Increased difficulty in walking
☐ Lost interest in activities
☐ Swollen legs or feet
☐ Loss of balance
☐ Shortness of breath or frequent coughing
☐ Allows home to fall into disrepair
☐ Unpaid bills
☐ More irritable, frequent crying or unusual changes in mood
☐ More withdrawn or reluctant to leave the house
☐ More secretive or suspicious of others
☐ Talks about feelings of hopelessness or about not wanting to live

These are some indicators of serious problems requiring prompt medical attention. This list does not include every possibility. Contact your relative’s physician regarding their specific health problems.

From Caregiving from Near and Far, with permission from the Baltimore County Department of Aging.

While some very minor memory changes occur with normal aging, there should be no significant mental decline with age. If an older person experiences confusion, disorientation or memory loss, it is a sign of a problem that needs to be evaluated by a doctor.

Does My Loved One Need Help?

Seeing changes for the worse in the wellbeing of a loved one is never easy.

Sometimes it is easy to miss these changes because they can be so gradual, and at other times, the change may seem so out of the ordinary that it is easy to excuse it as an “off day.” So how do you tell when there is cause for concern? What are the red flags? The following are warning signs to keep in mind as you assess your loved one’s needs:

Growing health concerns:

- ☐ Noticing withdrawn or paranoid behavior that is atypical

A change in personal hygiene:
- ☐ Failing to bathe, not brushing their teeth/dentures
- ☐ Hair is uncombed or unclean
- ☐ Clothes are soiled
- ☐ Noticing body odor

Decreased mobility or increased frailty:
- ☐ Having increased concerns with balance and mobility

A change in interpersonal relationships:
- ☐ Avoiding friends and family
- ☐ Isolating themselves from others

Other changes in appearance:
- ☐ Experiencing weight loss
- ☐ Skipping meals
- ☐ Experiencing lack of appetite or other significant changes in eating habits

A change in social interactions:
- ☐ Becomes antisocial when normally outgoing

Is Your Loved One in Denial?

Be patient. If your loved one refuses to admit he/she is having difficulties, or rejects offers of help, it is important to understand the reasons why.

- Vision loss, difficulty walking or slower reflexes are some of the changes associated with aging that are hard to accept.
- Your loved one could be determined to remain independent and may not want to be a burden on anyone else or lose control of his/her own life.
- Your loved one could be concerned with appearances and may resist wearing a hearing aid or using a cane, or may not want neighbors to see someone coming to his/her home to help with household tasks.
- To someone who has been frugal all their life, your loved one may resist hiring someone to clean, cook or provide personal care because of a fear of depleting their savings. Try to understand these reasons and find a way to address your concerns to them.

Remember the following:

- Timing is everything
  Plan your discussion for when you are both calm and relaxed.
- Be honest about your concerns
  Try not to be critical or judgmental. It helps to use “I” statements, for example, “I’m very worried that you are eating so little” or “I’m afraid you might be getting sick.”
- First things first
  Discuss only the most important issues; try to let the little ones go.
- Listen respectfully
  Take time to hear their point of view.
- Suggest small steps
  A series of small changes may be more acceptable than a sudden, dramatic change.
- Change takes time
  Be prepared to discuss the same issue a number of times before seeing progress.
- Enlist others
  If you do not succeed, enlist an outside person, such as a doctor, to speak with them as well.
A Caregiver Reality Check

Most of us don’t like to think about a loved one needing significant support to manage everyday life. However, no one can predict when an emergency situation might occur, and if caught unprepared, a person or family often faces a much greater burden in making important caregiving decisions. Even though it is difficult, the best way to be prepared as a caregiver is to plan, talk, and prepare before a crisis occurs. Here are some key strategies to help you be prepared for the realities of caregiving:

☐ Talk early and talk often with your loved one. Frequent, relaxed and open conversations about personal wishes, fears and options will make the topic feel less taboo. Everyday life may present scenarios or stories that provide a springboard for a conversation that will help you to better understand your own concerns and your loved one’s wishes. For example, a friend has recently had to assume the role of caregiver or is in need of more family support. Use this situation to start a conversation; it may be the foundation of a discussion about your loved one’s plans and concerns.

☐ Take time and make time to know your loved one in a different way. Talking is key and making time to do so is important. No matter how much you plan or discuss life planning issues with those you care about, there will always be some issue that may arise that you didn’t talk about. Having a strong sense of how your loved one views things will help you in those moments where the path isn’t clear. What are their fears? What role does their faith play in their decisions? What things bring them comfort?

☐ Encourage your loved ones to have a plan and be organized. When the unexpected occurs it is important to know where critical information is kept. Any plan is better than no plan. There are some great resources to help get financial, legal and other concerns in line and are free of cost, although it never hurts to consult a professional such as a lawyer or accountant. See page 31 for a comprehensive checklist to assistance in planning. Completing this checklist will help to ensure that you have planned effectively to keep track of legal affairs, preserve personal wishes, and plan ahead for life’s unforeseen events.

☐ Whenever possible, let your loved one lead the decision making. When our loved ones begin to need our care and support, it is usually because they are becoming less independent or no longer able to care for themselves on their own. This can be very disheartening. Loss of autonomy is a major contributor to depression, and the more choices our loved ones have, the better their outlook will be. In the rush and stress of caregiving, we can forget how important our loved one’s choices are, even if they might seem insignificant in the grand scheme of things. The more empowered they feel, the less they will feel a sense of loss and dependency.

☐ Be informed about resources. It is important to have a basic knowledge of what resources are available before you need them. These resources may include who you can rely on for help, what kind of help they can offer and what community based programs and agencies are available. This booklet is a help with the latter. Don’t overlook help from neighbors, friends and your faith community and don’t be afraid to ask for help when you need it.

☐ Assess the need. Determine if your loved one needs help and the type of help that is needed, but don’t feel like you have to do it alone. Utilize the resources available and noted in this guide to get a clear picture of your loved one’s situation. The more you understand their needs, the better you can help as well as plan for the future.

There are many concerns to consider in life planning and it is important to be prepared for the possibility your loved one will need you to provide care and support for them. The steps above are necessary to ensure the best possible outcome when that time comes. Remember, being proactive and prepared is a gift of peace of mind for yourself and for those who care about you!
Long-Distance Caregiving

Caregiving from a distance can bring feelings of guilt, anxiety and helplessness. How can you effectively help take care of a loved one from afar?

During Visits:

- Observe carefully. Is your relative eating well? Can he/she still take care of finances, personal and household needs? How much contact does your relative have with other people? Are there safety problems?
- Communicate honestly with your relative and encourage their involvement in working through problems.
- Build a cooperative relationship with local relatives and friends who are involved, including neighbors and church members. If they are already helping out around the house (with meals, etc.), show your appreciation for their work and encourage them to email or call you collect if they have any concerns.
- Check the security of the home. Be sure there are sturdy locks on doors and windows, good exterior lighting, and no overgrown shrubbery near the house. Properly safeguard valuables.
- Arrange to have important legal documents drafted such as a will, power of attorney or advanced directives (see page 28).

If You Have Concerns:

- To reach the local Aging & Disabilities Resource Center (ADRC), contact Eldercare Locator at 1-800-677-1116 or visit their website at www.eldercare.gov. In Harford County, call 410-638-3303.
- Ask about the types of services available, names of service providers and costs.
- If possible, schedule an appointment with a local ADRC staff member so that you and your loved one can learn together about services and programs that may be helpful. Be sure to ask about what documents or information you should bring to the meeting.
Before you leave to return home, review any decisions that have been made and what steps are necessary to carry them out with your loved one.

Take with you the following vital information and items:

- Location of important documents. i.e. deed to the house, funeral arrangements, birth certificate, etc.
- Names of institutions and account numbers for bank accounts and life and health insurance policies
- Name and phone numbers of the doctor and local emergency contacts
- Information regarding your loved one's medical conditions and medications
- A copy of the house key

Other Options:

- Consider hiring an in-home aide if your relative needs more help with bathing, dressing, food preparation and household chores. Aides can be hired privately or through a home care agency; careful screening and reference checks are essential. Be sure the employee is bonded or insured against theft.
- Encourage your loved one to get involved in local activities such as senior activity centers, church groups or other social support networks.
- To better assist with maintaining good nutrition, check into a local home-delivered meal program.
- Explore Adult Day Care options.
- If your loved one's needs are extensive, consider consulting with a service provider specific to your loved one's needs, i.e., geriatric care manager or medical specialist who will work with your loved one and family to develop a care plan. Services and fees may vary, so investigate fully before investing in the service.
- It is important to remember to consult with your loved one's health care provider. In many cases, a referral is required for skilled services such as occupational therapy and physical therapy.

For case management services in your relative’s area, call Eldercare Locator at 1-800-677-1116 or visit www.eldercare.gov, or contact the National Association of Professional Geriatric Care Managers at 520-881-8008 or visit www.aginglifecare.org.
CHAPTER 1
EXPLORING CHALLENGES

Tips for Successful Family Caregiving
SHARING THE CARE

It is important to work together to meet the challenges of caregiving. Call a “Family” meeting.

Caregiving involves many challenging decisions, from choosing an in-home aide to finding a nursing home and resolving personal affairs. Communication among family members and concerned parties is the key to providing the best care for your relative. Caregiving is a massive responsibility and therefore every possible resource should be explored. Consider all avenues of support including family, friends, churches, neighbors and others in the community.

When planning a family meeting, include relatives and other concerned parties. It’s important to remember as you go forward that you are planning the care of an individual who has their own wants, needs, and priorities. If you do not already have a sense of their priorities, it may be beneficial to discuss them with your loved one in advance of having a family meeting.

TIPS for Successful Family Meetings:

☐ Come prepared. Bring notes on what you would like to discuss; bring information about programs and services you are considering.

☐ Respect feelings and wishes. Research your loved one’s options. Can they afford assisted living, a nursing home, etc.

☐ Gather facts. Research your loved one’s options. Can they afford assisted living, a nursing home, etc.

☐ Listen to others. Viewpoints may differ, but consider everyone’s opinions and don’t accuse or attack each other; use “I” statements to express feelings.

☐ Divide responsibilities. Everyone should have an assignment to avoid feelings of resentment.

☐ Consider professional guidance. A professional case manager, mediator or social worker can help run the meeting if tensions are running high in the family.*

☐ Plan a follow-up meeting. Hold an additional meeting two to three months following the primary meeting, to evaluate the plan and make any necessary changes.

☐ Take notes. To allow for clarity after the meeting and to provide focus for future action, have someone, preferably a family member, take notes during the meetings.

* FREE Mediation Services are available for families and care providers who need help with decision-making, conflicts or guardianship issues. Tips for Sibling Family Caregiving
KEEPING THE PEACE

8 Important Talking Points to Include in a Family Meeting

1. Your loved one’s up-to-date medical report
2. Your loved one’s wants and needs with regard to care and support from the family
3. Where your loved one will live; i.e. in their home, with another family member, in assisted living, etc.
4. Cost of care and how costs will be covered
5. What the primary caregiver needs from the family in regard to assistance and support
6. How much time each family member has to visit or care for a loved one
7. Additional resources available to assist the primary caregiver
8. Allow time for each family member to voice their opinions about the situation

Remember, despite your best efforts to keep the peace, the challenges involved in planning, paying for, and carrying out your loved one’s care may still cause division.

CHAPTER 2
DEMENTIA & SAFETY

Forgetfulness or Something More?

What is dementia? It is the deterioration of a person’s ability to think, remember and reason. It may cause changes in personality, mood and behavior. A person with dementia may have difficulty using common objects, finding the right words and following directions.

Dementia is not a disease, but a set of symptoms common to certain diseases. Alzheimer’s, Lou Gehrig’s disease, also known as Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis (ALS), and Parkinson’s disease are among the many conditions which cause dementia. The mental impairment gets worse over time. Individuals in the later stages may wander from home, forget to eat, and lose the ability to care for their most basic needs. Some conditions, such as depression, thyroid disorders, poor nutrition, infections, and alcoholism as well as reactions to certain medications may cause dementia-like symptoms. In these cases, proper diagnosis and treatment may be able to reverse the symptoms.

Forgetfulness or Something More? (continued)

Use the following to identify early signs and symptoms:

- Daily disruption of life due to frequent memory loss
- Difficulty with problem-solving and planning
- Problems with everyday tasks
- Losing sense of time or place
- Challenges with perception, images and special relationships
- Struggling with communicating through speaking or writing
- Frequently misplacing objects
- Changes in judgement or decision-making
- Withdrawal from social situations
- Lack of interest in hobbies, activities, work, projects or sports
- Changes in mood or personality

Ten tips for talking to someone with dementia

1. Eliminate distractions i.e. radio, fans, television, etc.
2. Be patient and resist the urge to finish their sentences
3. Acknowledge physical indicators. Pay attention to body language to determine mood
4. Don’t underestimate the power of conversation, even if communication is limited
5. Experiment with different types of communication such as pointing, demonstrating, visual clues, etc.
6. Keep conversations on a one-on-one basis as much as possible
7. Limit conversations. Keep them short, simple and to the point
8. Try to imagine living in their reality. Provide support and validation to their beliefs as long as it isn’t hurting anyone
9. Steer clear of conflict. Arguing and debating will only cause agitation
10. Maintain eye contact and speak directly. Get their attention by using their name

Safety Tips:

• Store sharp objects and toxic substances out of the person’s reach.

• Develop a reminder system for medications. If a person lives alone, they may forget to take their medications. Use a medication organizer or unit dose packs, write notes or call at medication times.

• Keep daily routines as consistent as possible.

• Plan a predictable schedule for meal, bath and bed times.

• Simple activities like dressing or brushing teeth may become difficult. Break activities into small steps and give verbal instructions, one at a time.

• Gently redirect the person if he or she becomes upset. You may be able to distract the person by taking a walk or offering a favorite activity.

• If the person can no longer cook, consider Meals on Wheels or hire someone to help with meal preparation.

• Use safety gates and lock doors to rooms that can be dangerous.

• Close supervision is required for people who wander outside the home. Obtain an identification bracelet from the Alzheimer’s Association’s Safe Return Program, 1-800-443-2273.

• Write down appointments and other events on a large calendar, and keep a log of visits from family and other helpers. This can then be reviewed with your loved one.

• Report significant changes in behavior to the doctor. These may indicate health problems which the person cannot communicate.

Is My Loved One at Risk for Mismanaging Their Medications?

Medication mishaps are a leading cause of hospitalization and fall-related injuries among older adults. Half of the older adult population takes at least three medications daily. This does not include vitamins, supplements and over-the-counter medications. Keep an up-to-date medication list and always use the same pharmacy to prevent problems. How can you reduce the risk of medication mishaps as a caregiver? Consider whether your loved one has the following risk factors that contribute to medication-related problems as well as the suggested solutions to prevent them.

Vision Problems which may include:
- Inability to read labels for the type of medication or dosage instructions
- Inability to discern the color or shape of pills when taking medication
- Inability to read warning labels for precautions and side effects
- Inability to see or find dropped medications
- Inability to read expiration dates on medications

Solution: Ask the pharmacist for large-print labels and instructions. Set up a pill organizer for your loved one and check it regularly. Keep an up-to-date list of medications and what they are used for. Frequently check to see if medications are expired.

Hearing Loss:
- Inability to hear a physician/pharmacist’s directions on how to take medication
- Reluctance to ask questions due to inability to properly hear responses

Solution: Ask for physicians/pharmacist to write down special instructions, arrange to speak to them or attend medical appointments with your loved one as possible.

Swallowing Problems:
- Swallowing problems and dry mouth can lead to the inability or failure to take medication

Solution: Patients should not crush or break up pills which may damage the integrity and effectiveness of the medication. Talk to your loved one’s physician to see if the medication can be safely crushed or if there are other ways the medication can be provided.

Memory Loss or Confusion This can contribute to:
- Failure to remember to take medications
- Inability to remember when medications were taken
- Inability to remember where medications are located
- Uncertainty about time of day/night

Solution: Look for a pill organizer that matches your loved one’s medication routine. There are organizers that are designed for daily medications but also those that are set up for morning, afternoon and evening medication schedules.

Financial Concerns:
- High prescription copays and limited incomes

Solution: It is not unusual for seniors to forgo getting prescriptions filled if they are too costly. Others may try taking less than prescribed to make the prescription last longer. Talk to physicians about generics, samples or prescription assistance programs that assist with costs or contact the State Health Insurance Program at 410-638-3577.

Disposing of Medications Safely and Properly

Follow medication providers’ instructions and use all medications as instructed. If you do not use all prescribed or over-the-counter medications, you can take a few small steps to make an impact in safeguarding lives and protecting the environment by disposing of unused medicines properly:

1. Check for approved state and local programs, such as Drug Take Back Days and collection sites. Call 410-638-3333 for the next drop off date. There are also permanent drop off boxes located at the following locations:

   - Harford County Sheriff’s Main Office
     45 S. Main Street, Bel Air
   - Harford County Sheriff’s Northern Precinct
     3724 Norrisville Road, Jarrettsville
   - Harford County Sheriff’s Southern Precinct
     1305 Pulaski Highway, Edgewood
   - Maryland State Police Bel Air Barrack
     1401 Belair Road, Bel Air
   - Havre de Grace Police Department
     715 Pennington Avenue, Havre de Grace
   - Aberdeen Police Department
     60 N. Parke Street, Aberdeen

2. DO NOT FLUSH unused medications and DO NOT POUR them down a sink or drain.

3. Be proactive and dispose of unused medication in household trash. When discarding unused medications, ensure you protect children and pets from potentially negative effects:
   a. Pour medication into a sealable plastic bag. If medication is a solid (pill, liquid capsule, etc.), crush it or add water to dissolve it.
   b. Add kitty litter, sawdust, coffee grounds (or any material that mixes with the medication and makes it less appealing for pets and children to eat) to the plastic bag.
   c. Seal the plastic bag and put it in the trash.
   d. Remove and destroy ALL identifying personal information (prescription label) from all medication containers before recycling them or throwing them into the trash.

4. Another option is to check for approved state and local collection alternatives such as community based household hazardous waste collection programs.

Flush prescription drugs down the toilet only if the label or accompanying patient information specifically instructs doing so.

Making Home Accessible

Financial assistance may be available for accessibility-related improvements. These improvements may include the installation of grab bars and railings, widening of doorways and installation of ramps, etc. These types of home improvements allow many individuals to remain in their home and maintain their independence. Some modifications may even qualify for a tax deduction. The following programs may offer some assistance for making home accessible:

- Accessible Homes for Seniors provides a zero-interest loan with 30-year payment deferral for eligible homeowners, age 55 and over. For information and application, call the Harford County Office on Aging at 410-638-3303.

- Centers for Independent Living (CIL) | The IMAGE Center: The Assistive Technology Program may be able to assist consumers with the purchase or repair of technologies that allow the individual to remain independent within the home. Items may include, but are not limited to, handrails, flooring, ramps, bathroom modifications, and other home modifications.

- Harford County Housing Agency provides low-interest loans that may be deferred or can be repaid in 20 years. Income requirements apply. For information, call 410-638-3045.

- Habitat For Humanity Susquehanna provides home repairs for low-income elderly and disabled homeowners who meet eligibility requirements. For information, call 410-638-4434.

- Reverse Mortgages or Home Equity Conversion Mortgages allow homeowners to borrow against the equity in their home. Applicants must be age 62 and over with little or no mortgage. The money can be used for any purpose including home improvements, medical costs or other living expenses. For information call the Harford County Housing Agency at 410-638-3045 or visit the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) at www.hud.gov.

How to Make Home Safer

There are often simple changes that can make it more comfortable and safe for your loved one to remain in their current living situation.

Consider these options and supports:

• Take a good safety inventory of your loved one’s living space. Look for trip hazards, clear away clutter and assure good lighting. Verify smoke detectors are working and address necessary home repairs and security risks.

• Add medical equipment such as a wheelchair, shower bench, cane or bedside toilet. These can ease mobility and address personal care limitations.

• Home modifications such as a ramp, guardrails and grab bars allow for safety and promote independence.

• Medical alert systems such as personal alarms/telephone assurance provide extra reassurance and peace of mind for both caregiver and care recipient.

• Home delivered meal programs assist with providing proper nutrition while minimizing the danger of burns and cuts.

General Home Safety Tips

• Establish a medical alert or a buddy system.
• Keep a fire extinguisher and smoke detector handy.
• Wear proper fitting shoes with low heels.
• Use a correctly measured walking aid.
• Remove or tack down all scatter rugs.
• Remove electrical or telephone cords from traffic areas.
• Avoid using slippery cleaning products on floors.
• Wipe up spills immediately.
• Avoid standing on ladders or chairs.

• Make sure all rails for stairs inside and outside the house are sturdy.
• Use proper and bright lighting in all high traffic areas.
• Make sure that all staircases have good lighting with switches that are easily accessible.
• Use non-slip materials on all staircases.
• Make sure front and back doors have dead bolts.
• Post emergency numbers by all phones.
• Set thermostat on water heater at 120 degrees or below.
• Keep lamp or flashlight near bed.

CHAPTER 2
DEMENTIA & SAFETY

Is it Time for Your Loved One to Give Up the Keys?

The ability to drive is one we often take for granted but hold tightly to as it permits independence and autonomy.

There may come a time when you feel that your loved one’s ability to drive safely is compromised. Addressing this subject is difficult. How will you know when it is time for this discussion? Use the following checklist as a guideline if your loved one:

- Seems unusually uneasy when driving in general or when driving at night or in bad weather
- Drives either too quickly or too slowly
- Is slow to respond to signals, stop signs or hazards in the road
- Has failed to obey traffic signs or signals
- Has significant change or decline in vision, hearing or mobility
- Has become disoriented or lost on familiar routes
- Has had warnings or tickets due to poor driving
- Has caused an accident
- Is unable to maintain speed, stay in lane or perform routine driving functions
- Has frequent near misses while driving
- Has difficulty with response time and/or coordination
- Has had illnesses where a doctor has cautioned against driving
- Takes medication that clearly cautions against driving while taking the prescription
- Confuses the brake and accelerator

The items above are not necessarily an indicator that your loved one can no longer drive. Consider alternate transportation or have a talk with your loved one. Here are some tips to consider:

☐ See their physician and discuss these concerns to see if they can be addressed/resolved
☐ Limit driving time to short distances or only in daytime hours if appropriate
☐ Have vision and hearing tests to help assess capability
☐ Look for options to decrease the need to drive such as riding with friends, or using public transportation
☐ Talk to your loved one’s pharmacist to see if medications could be at the core of the concern and what can be done to address this

CHAPTER 3
LEGAL & FINANCIAL CONCERNS

Legal & Financial Issues

Power of Attorney (Financial)

It is important to anticipate the need to take over the management of your loved one’s financial affairs. A Power of Attorney is used most frequently to allow a friend or family member to assist a loved one with paperwork and financial affairs.

Your personal attorney can assist in creating a Power of Attorney that meets your family's needs. For those who cannot afford an attorney, the Maryland Senior Legal Hotline can provide information and may be able to help.

Call 1-800-896-4213 for more information.

KEY TERMS:
- Durable Power of Attorney: The loved one has stated in writing, while still lucid, that the document should remain valid in the event that they are determined to “lack capacity.”
- Springing Power of Attorney: This can be written to take effect immediately or upon your loved one’s disability.

Guardianship

A guardianship may be necessary if your loved one’s condition deteriorates to a point where they “lack capacity.” The guardian will not have access to their funds, and there is no Power of Attorney in place. There are two types of guardianship in Maryland — guardianship of the property and guardianship of the person.

Generally, you will need to hire an attorney to file for a guardianship. All of these legal efforts have drawbacks and limitations. They may also be costly and time-consuming. For more information, call the Harford County Office on Aging at 410-638-4283 or visit www.harfordcountymd.gov/services/aging.

Advance Directives or Living Will

An Advance Directive is a written declaration of any adult instructing their physician to withhold or withdraw life-sustaining procedures in the event of a terminal condition, a persistent vegetative state (permanent unconsciousness) or an end-stage condition.

KEY TERMS:
- Appointment of a Health Care Agent names a proxy who has legal authority to carry out a person’s wishes and make a decision to accept or refuse treatment for that person.
- End-stage condition is an advanced, progressive, and incurable condition resulting in complete physical dependency, i.e. advanced Alzheimer’s disease.
- Health Care Instructions are similar to the Living Will, but can go into effect in the case of a terminal condition, a persistent vegetative state or an end-stage condition.
- Living Will is designated to go into effect only in the event of a terminal condition.
- Five Wishes is a private, non-profit organization with a mission to safeguard human dignity. www.agingwithdignity.org or 1-888-594-7437.

Samples of Advance Directives are available free of charge from the Harford County Office on Aging. For specific legal information, please contact your personal attorney or call the Maryland Senior Legal Hotline at 1-800-896-4213.
CHAPTER 3
LEGAL & FINANCIAL CONCERNS

Warning Signs of Financial Exploitation

Financial exploitation of seniors is often referred to as the silent crime that goes unreported because the victims are not aware that they are being taken advantage of or are too embarrassed to report what has occurred.

Financial exploitation is the wrongful taking or use of a vulnerable person’s funds or property through fraud, theft, predatory lending or scam. Current estimates put overall reporting of financial exploitation at only 1 in 25 cases, suggesting that there are at least 5 million financial abuse victims each year.

Consider the following. Your loved one:

- has withdrawals of large amounts of cash or frequent checks made out to “cash”
- is unable to find credit cards or identification cards
- has had valuable objects disappear from the home
- is uneasy discussing financial concerns
- has had new names appear on bank accounts
- receives unpaid bills or insufficient funds notices
- no longer receives mail related to money issues

- mentions entering contests, lotteries or receiving suspicious calls asking for money
- has additional credit cards in their name along with another person’s name added to the accounts
- makes sudden changes to will or other financial/legal documents
- has a new friend, interested person or uninvolved relative
- has signatures on financial documents that look unusual or forged
- enters into offerings or provisions of costly services they do not need

What to do if you suspect financial exploitation:

☐ Attempt to talk to your loved one gently about your concerns
☐ Contact your loved one’s banking institutions and share your concerns
☐ Compile any and all documentation you can that is related to your suspicions
☐ Report your suspicion to appropriate authorities such as local law enforcement, State’s Attorney’s Office, Adult Protective Services, or Office on Aging

My Checklist

Many of us don’t like to think about gathering all of our important documents in one place. It is easy to put it off until tomorrow or to assume that our loved ones will know “where everything is” should the time come. No one can predict when an emergency situation might occur, and if unprepared, a person or family may face a much greater burden and expense in resolving legal affairs. This checklist includes a comprehensive list of important documents and information related to every aspect of your life. Completing this will help you to ensure that you have planned effectively to keep track of your legal affairs, preserve your wishes, and allow you to plan ahead for life’s unforeseen events. Being prepared is a gift of peace of mind for yourself and for those who care about you!

Options for Care

There are essentially four options in caring for a frail or disabled loved one:

1. In-Home Care
   - In Their Home
   - In Your Home

2. Adult Day Care

3. Assisted Living

4. Nursing Home Care

IN-HOME CARE is complex and involves maximizing family and community resources. Some of the most common in-home care/support services include:

- bathing/personal care
- home health care (nursing, occupational therapy, etc.)
- transportation to physician/shopping
- chore services (laundry, vacuuming, etc.)
- meal preparation
- medication monitoring
- handicapped-accessible living space
- respite care (when your loved one lives with you)
- medical equipment (wheelchair, shower bench, etc.)

ADULT DAY CARE provides assistance and supervision during the day. The two types are:

- Adult social care
- Adult medical day care

ASSISTED LIVING FACILITIES are live-in facilities that provide supervision, personal care, meal preparation, medication monitoring and personal chores like cleaning and laundry. Nursing care is not provided on a daily basis.

NURSING HOMES provide the same services as assisted living, but also provide skilled nursing services, social work services, therapeutic services like physical therapy, and physician services. Nursing home care is for individuals who suffer from unstable medical conditions or need more personal care and supervision than assisted living can usually handle.

Options for Care

Adult Day Care

Adult Medical Day Care provides socialization, therapeutic exercise and activities as well as respite for the caregiver. A Registered Nurse attends to medical needs such as medication administration, blood pressure monitoring and implementing physician orders. A light breakfast, hot lunch and snack are provided and door-to-door transportation is offered.

- Active Day of Harford
  410-273-2060
- Harford County Adult Medical Care Center
  410-838-3222

Adult Day Care Centers are community-based facilities that provide care for adults who need assistance or supervision during the day. These programs offer support to caregivers so they can go to work or manage personal business. Most adult day care facilities are open on weekdays and some have extended and weekend hours. These programs are important resources that can help families avoid the need for out-of-home placement of a loved one. There are two types of adult day care: adult social day care and adult medical care.

Is Adult Day Care the Best Fit for My Loved One?

If you check YES to the items below and feel that adding these supports would meet your loved one’s needs when combined with family and other supports, adult day care may be a good option for your loved one. If these options are not a good fit, additional resources are explored in this guide.

Caregiver works – is outside home regularly or needs respite support

Loved one must have supervision and/or assistance to ensure safety

Loved one needs support with:
- Meals and snacks
- Medications, routine monitoring of health conditions (blood pressure, diabetes)
- Physical, occupational and/or speech therapy
- Supervision to avoid wandering
- Socialization

If you find that one or a combination of the options above is not sufficient to meet the needs of your loved one, you may need to consider an assisted living or nursing home placement. Additional information follows on those care options.
Choosing an Adult Day Care

When trying to find the right Adult Day Care Center for your loved one, you want to make sure they will be happy, safe and well attended. Adult Day Care can be the answer. Determining the correct facility will give you peace of mind and can aid caregivers and family in maintaining their personal well being as well. The following checklist will help guide you in choosing the best Adult Day Care Center that will meet your needs, as well as those of your loved one:

Location and Finding The Right Center
- Is the center in proximity to family, friends, and other caregivers?
- Is transportation available?
- Is there an extra charge for transportation?
- How do I find a center? Check with family doctor, local social services or health department, mental health centers or your local Office on Aging.

Facility Information
- How long has the facility been in business?
- Is the facility licensed by the State Health Department or Department of Social Services?
- Has the State Health Department received any substantiated complaints about the care provided in the facility?
- Do I feel welcome when I visit the facility?

Financial Information
- What days and hours is the facility open?
- What happens if I am running late or need to drop off my loved one early?
- How is the participant charged; hourly, daily, or weekly?
- Is there a minimum amount of time that needs to be committed to? For example, 3 days a week.
- Is financial assistance available?
- What is included in the cost, activities, meals, transportation, etc.?
- What is the adult-to-staff ratio?
- How do they ensure safety?
- How are behavioral problems handled?
Choosing an Adult Day Care (continued)

Level of Care: Does the Facility Accept Attendees Who:
- ☐ Are incontinent?
- ☐ Are in wheelchairs?
- ☐ Have memory loss?
- ☐ Have difficulties in speaking?
- ☐ Wander?
- ☐ Have special dietary requirements?
- ☐ Have behavioral problems?

Myths about Adult Day Care Facilities:

- It's an overestimated babysitting service for seniors.
- All attendees and participants are mentally, physically or emotionally challenged.
- All activities are preplanned and participants cannot deviate from the schedule.
- Caregivers are not able to participate.
- Adult Day Care replaces and can make up for everyday attention by caregivers.

Assisted Living

Assisted living facilities provide a housing alternative for frail adults who require help with dressing, bathing, eating, toileting, and overall supervision. Assisted living residents do not require skilled nursing care. Short-term stays are an option if the regular caregiver requires respite for travel or other concerns. Assisted living facilities can vary greatly in the number of residents they serve. Some are home environments with just a few residents; others can be quite large where residents have their own apartment-like living area. In addition, assisted living facilities can vary in the level of care they provide. An assisted living facility is a good alternative that allows residents to retain their independence but benefit from a supportive environment.

Financial Assistance for Assisted Living

Home & Community-Based Waiver
410-638-4283
Provided through the Harford County Office on Aging; assists individuals with cost of assisted living. Participants must be 50 years of age or over and financially and medically eligible. Assisted Living (continued)

What to Look for When Selecting an Assisted Living Facility

Assisted Living facilities provide support services to meet the needs of residents who are no longer able to perform, or need help performing, activities of daily living. These facilities provide a place to live as well as prepared meals, medication administration, and assistance with dressing, bathing, and eating. Typically residents living in Assisted Living have less complicated medical problems than residents living in a nursing home. Facilities can range from a small home with two residents to a large facility with over a hundred residents. Fee structures also vary, with some charging a single fee, to others charging an “a la carte” menu of services.

Here are some points to help you in the search:

- Obtain the current listing of licensed facilities from the Office of Health Care Quality: http://dhmh.maryland.gov/ohcq/docs/Provider-Listings/PDF/WEB_ALP.pdf
- Know your finances. What can be paid each month to a facility? Take into account how long assets are going to last. It would not be ideal to move into a facility, only to have to leave in a few months because it is not affordable.
- Narrow the search to a certain geographic area such as a place that is going to be convenient for family and friends to visit.
- Determine what atmosphere is a good fit for your loved one: a larger facility with planned activities or a small home setting.
- Talk to trusted friends and family about any experiences they have had with local facilities.
- Call and visit several facilities and take a tour. While you are there, talk to residents and other family members to gather feedback.
- Ask for a copy of the facility’s uniform disclosure statement. This is a form that is required to be filled out and made available upon request. It includes information about their fees, staffing, and covered services. It is a good tool to have when making comparisons.
- Also request a copy of their admission contract and price list. Do not be afraid to ask questions!
- Contact the local Office on Aging and ask to speak to the Long-Term Care Ombudsman (410-638-3577) for guidance in the selection and placement process. The Ombudsman serves as an advocate for those living in long-term care.
- Once you have narrowed down your choices, visit again. If possible, visit on a weekend or in the evening. Talk to staff, visitors, and residents.
- After you have decided on a facility and signed a contract, make sure you get a copy of your signed contract.

The Nursing Home Decision

DECISION “TREE” OF CARE OPTIONS

One of the most difficult decisions caregivers may have to face is whether to place a loved one in a nursing home.

Does your relative need more care than you or a community-based facility can provide?
☐ Illness or injury of primary caregiver
☐ Family stressors, including financial difficulties and problems with children
☐ Loved one has incontinence of bladder and/or bowel
☐ Difficulties with lifting and/or transferring the loved one safely
☐ Difficulties with mobility

If you answered yes to any of these questions, it may be time to consider a nursing home placement. Discuss the issue with the entire family and physician. It may be helpful to have an in-home evaluation by a professional who can assess your loved one’s needs. Call the Harford County Health Department’s Adult Evaluation and Review Service at 410-838-1500 to arrange an evaluation by a nurse or social worker.

Choosing a Facility
For information on nursing homes in other counties or states, call Eldercare Locator at 1-800-677-1116 or visit www.eldercare.gov.

To help in your decision, visit www.medicare.gov/files/nursing-home-checklist.pdf for a useful checklist of information.

☐ Consider facilities that are located near family and friends.

☐ Read the State Survey Report on the facilities to see if they are in compliance with federal and state regulations, available onsite at the facility www.medicare.gov/nursinghomecompare/search.html?

☐ Review: Maryland Health Care Commission: visit www.mhcc.maryland.gov for information about choosing a Maryland Nursing Home; this site also allows for a comparison of homes.

☐ Revisit the facilities you are considering at a different time and day of the week. Try to visit during a meal so you can observe the food quality and how staff serves food to residents.

Assuring Good Care

Advocating for Your Loved One
After your relative is admitted to a nursing home, your role as a caretaker has changed, but it has not ended. Positive and frequent contact with family and friends will help your relative adjust to life in a nursing home and will also ensure they receive the best possible care. Help your loved one adjust by making their room as homelike as possible and tell the nursing home staff a little about your relative’s background and interests.

Resident’s Bill of Rights
Your relative should receive a copy of the Residents’ Bill of Rights. This document lists all rights under the law that must be provided for residents of nursing homes. If these rights are being violated or if you become aware of any other issues that are a problem for the resident, help your loved one to resolve it. Remember, it is important to give the resident as much decision-making power as possible. This is the person’s home, and the manner in which problems are handled has a real impact on his/her daily life.

Addressing Concerns
Concerns about the facility may range from lost laundry to serious mistreatment by staff members. If you do not have success in resolving the issue on your own, contact either of these two agencies:

• The Department of Health and Mental Hygiene’s Office of Health Care Quality Complaint Division at 410-402-8108 (for facilities within Maryland); or 1-877-402-8219.

• The Harford County Office on Aging’s Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program at 410-638-3577 (for facilities in Harford County).
The Nursing Home Decision (continued)

Ombudsman Program

Each jurisdiction in the State of Maryland has an Ombudsman program. In Harford County, the Ombudsman program phone number is 410-638-3577.

What is an Ombudsman?

- The Ombudsman is a person appointed to receive complaints from individuals about problems or abuses.
- The Ombudsman investigates complaints, reports findings and works to settle disputes fairly.
- The Ombudsman is an objective listener, a mediator and an advocate for the resident.
- The Ombudsman works to defend the rights of residents in nursing homes and assisted living facilities.

Who can use an Ombudsman’s Services?

- Residents of any nursing home or assisted living facility
- A Family Member or Friend of a nursing home or assisted living resident
- An Employee on behalf of a resident
- Any Individual or Citizen’s Group interested in the welfare of residents
- Individuals and Families who are considering long-term care placement

The Ombudsman Program can:

- Provide a channel to express concerns while preserving one’s privacy
- Help to resolve concerns and problems, and encourage self-advocacy
- Advocate on behalf of a resident of a nursing home or assisted living facility
- Educate interested persons about nursing homes, assisted living facilities, regulations governing them and the rights of residents
- Work together with interested persons to improve the quality of life for residents in long-term care facilities
- Provide information and referral services regarding long-term care
- Promote the development of citizen organizations, family councils and resident councils

Do you or someone you know live in a nursing home or assisted living facility?

- Are you concerned with the quality of care in the home?
- Do you have any complaints about the home?
- Do you have questions about financing nursing home care?
- Do you have general questions about nursing homes or assisted living facilities?

Your relative should receive a copy of the Resident’s Bill of Rights. This document lists all rights under the law that must be provided for residents of assisted living facilities.

For complaints about assisted living facilities, contact the Office of Health Care Quality: 1-877-402-8219 or the Harford County Ombudsman Program at 410-638-3577.

Financial Assistance For Nursing Home Care

I. Medicare
Medicare does not cover long-term care in a nursing home. It will cover care for a limited period of time following a qualified hospital stay. For more information on Medicare or to receive a free copy of the Medicare Coverage of Skilled Nursing Facility Care, 1-800-MEDICARE (1-800-633-4227) or visit www.medicare.gov.

II. Medical Assistance (Medicaid)
Medicaid is a federal/state program that serves individuals who meet strict financial and medical criteria. Long-Term Care Medical Assistance pays the nursing home bills if the resident does not have the money to do so. It supplements the resident's income, which still must be paid to the nursing home, less a personal needs allowance and any health insurance premium. Medical Assistance pays for room and board, laundry and nursing care and also covers payments and deductibles for Medicare when no other health insurance is in place. To be eligible, the patient's assets cannot exceed a certain amount and have a burial plan with a funeral home or burial fund with your bank.

Applying for Medical Assistance can be a time-consuming process. It is best to apply before all personal funds are depleted in order to avoid a private pay bill if Medical Assistance is denied. Applications for Medical Assistance are available at the Harford County Department of Social Services (DSS) at 2 South Bond Street, Bel Air. With Medical Assistance (Medicaid) there are two sets of requirements to meet:

- Financial Criteria
  Call the Department of Social Services (DSS) at 410-836-4700 to obtain an application for Long-Term Care Medical Assistance. You will be required to verify all income, real estate holdings, bank accounts, trust funds and stocks.

- Medical Criteria
  The resident's physician must complete the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene's (DHMH) I.D. Screen and DHMH form 3871B. These document the person's medical condition and capacity. Medical Assistance must decide eligibility within 30 calendar days after all requested information is supplied. If there is a delay in providing information, Medical Assistance may not pay the bill until a decision is made.

Long-Term Care Insurance
Some individuals have purchased policies that will provide funding for long-term care. Review the policy and discuss with all nursing homes you are considering for placement.

III. Private Pay
An individual must pay privately for nursing home care if they are ineligible under Medicare, Medical Assistance or private insurance.

TIP:
Burial plans must be purchased at least a month before applying for Medical Assistance. Currently, there is no limit to how much you can spend on a burial plan.

Medicare

Medicare is a health insurance program for:

- people age 65 or older,
- people under age 65 with certain disabilities, and
- people of all ages with End-Stage Renal Disease (permanent kidney failure requiring dialysis or a kidney transplant)

Medicare has:

Part A Hospital Insurance: Most people do not pay a monthly Part A premium because they or a spouse has 40 or more quarters of Medicare-covered employment. Medicare Part A (Hospital Insurance) helps cover inpatient hospital care, including critical access hospitals, and skilled nursing facilities (not custodial or long-term care). It also helps cover hospice care and some home health care. Beneficiaries must meet certain conditions to get these benefits.

Part B Medical Insurance: Most people pay a monthly premium for Part B. Medicare Part B (Medical Insurance) helps cover doctors’ services and outpatient care. It also covers some medical services that Part A does not cover, such as some services for physical and occupational therapists and some home health care. Part B helps pay for these covered services and supplies when they are medically necessary.

Prescription Drug Coverage: Most people will pay a monthly premium for this coverage. Starting January 1, 2006, new Medicare prescription drug coverage became available to everyone with Medicare. Everyone with Medicare can get this coverage that may help lower prescription drug costs and help protect against higher costs in the future. Medicare Prescription Drug Coverage is insurance. Private companies provide the coverage. Beneficiaries choose the drug plan and pay a monthly premium. Like other insurance, if beneficiaries decide not to enroll in a drug plan when they are first eligible, they may pay a penalty if they choose to join later.

Medicare Prescription Drug Benefits (Part D)

Introduction
Medicare’s new drug coverage began January 1, 2006.

Who’s Eligible?
If you are a Medicare beneficiary, you are eligible to join a Medicare drug plan regardless of your income, health status, or current prescription expenses. You decide if you want to enroll or not. However, if you decide to join after your initial enrollment period, your monthly premium may be higher because there is a penalty for late enrollment. People new to Medicare have an initial enrollment period that starts 3 months before the month they turn age 65 and ends 3 months after the month they become age 65. If you have Medicare due to a disability, you can join three months before and after your 24th month of cash disability benefits. There is an annual open enrollment period from October 15 through December 7 every year to change plans. Your newly elected coverage would begin January 1.

What to Do
Gather information about current prescriptions and about current drug coverage. Find out if you are eligible for “extra help” through Federal or State programs and apply for financial help and take advantage of programs that are available. Save any letters from former employers or insurance plans. Compare your drug plan choices and decide what’s right for you. You can enroll in a stand-alone Medicare Drug Plan that only covers drugs or you can enroll in a Medicare Advantage plan with prescription drug, hospital, and doctor care coverage.

Medicare Advantage plans are managed care under Medicare. Gather information about the drug plans that are currently available and make a simple chart. Compare premiums, deductibles, co-insurance, and co-pays. Check to see if your medications are covered by the plan and where the participating pharmacies are located. For assistance and information, contact 1-800-Medicare, visit the Medicare website at www.medicare.gov, or call the Harford County Office on Aging at 410-638-3577 or visit www.harfordcountymd.gov/services/aging.

Financial Assistance - Federal “Extra Help” or Low-Income Subsidy
Federal assistance or “Extra help” for people with lower incomes and limited resources is available to reduce the cost of the premiums, deductible, and coinsurances. Call 1-800-772-1213 or visit www.ssa.gov.

Senior Prescription Drug Assistance Program (SPDAP)
The Senior Prescription Drug Assistance Program is a premium subsidy program for moderate income Maryland residents participating in an approved Medicare prescription drug plan or Medicare Advantage Plan. Qualified applicants will receive up to $40 per month towards premium costs. In select qualified plans the State will pay 95% of your Medicare Part D prescription drug costs paid within the coverage gap. To receive an application, call 1-800-551-5995 or visit their website at www.marylandspdap.com. Applications are also available at the Harford County Office on Aging.
Medicare (continued)

Medigap

Medicare Supplemental Insurance Plans
Buying a Medigap policy is an important decision. For information on Medigap, call the Harford County Office on Aging’s State Health Insurance Program (SHIP) at 410-638-3577. Free counseling for Medicare, Medigap, and Medicare Advantage plans is offered through this program.

What is Medigap?
- Medigap is a health insurance policy sold by private insurance companies that works to fill the “gaps.” These policies help pay some of the health care costs that the original Medicare Plan does not cover. You must have Medicare Part A and Part B to purchase a Medigap policy. You will continue to pay the Medicare Part B monthly premium in addition to the Medigap premium.
- There are 10 different standardized Medigap plans (A through N), which all have specific benefits so you can compare them easily. The benefits in any Medigap plan are the same for any insurance company. Each insurance company decides which Medigap policy it wants to sell.
- You and your spouse must each buy a separate Medigap policy. Policies only cover health care costs for one person.
- Maryland law increases safeguards for consumer protection. For example, you have 30 days to cancel a policy for a full refund. All policies must be guaranteed renewable. This means companies cannot cancel or refuse to renew a policy for any reason other than nonpayment of premiums or misrepresentation.
- Rates for the policies are available at www.mdinsurance.state.md.us.
- Medigap policies by law cannot include Prescription Drug Coverage.
- You may purchase a Part D plan for your prescription drug coverage needs.

Qualified Medicare Beneficiary Program (QMB)
The QMB program will pay the premiums, deductibles and co-insurance payments of the Medicare program for older and disabled individuals who are financially eligible. Individuals can apply for the QMB program through the Department of Social Services or you can request a mail-in application from the Harford County Office on Aging at 410-638-3303 or 410-638-3577.

Specified Low-Income Medicare Beneficiary Program (SLMB)
The SLMB program will pay the Medicare Part B premium only. This program is for people whose income is slightly more than the QMB criteria. As with the QMB program, an individual or couple may hold certain assets, i.e., a house, car, burial plan, etc. which may be exempt from consideration. Maximum monthly income levels apply. Applications for the SLMB program are available at the Department of Social Services in Bel Air or request a mail-in application from Harford County Office on Aging at 410-638-3303 or 410-638-3577. Guidelines are adjusted annually based on Federal Poverty level.

Spousal Impoverishment
This rule protects some resources for a spouse who remains in the community when the other spouse is admitted to the nursing home and is applying for Long-Term Care Medical Assistance. The couple’s home may be exempt along with other resources. The spouse who remains in the community may be eligible for a spousal share, meaning they may be eligible for a share of the income and assets that are jointly held. Contact the Maryland Medical Assistance Beneficiary Services & Pharmacy Access Hotline at 1-800-492-5231 or 410-767-1463, for information about the process or visit www.peoples-law.info/node/1004 for a complete explanation.

Senior Medicare Patrol (SMP)
The Senior Medicare Patrol (SMP) Program trains volunteers to be aware of health care fraud, waste, and abuse in the Medicare/Medicaid programs and provides information about fraud and scams.
Caring for Those with Disabilities

Overview

In the US, there are over 52 million caregivers who provide care to adults 18 years and older with a disability or chronic illness. Many caregivers are family members or friends who assist affected individuals with activities of daily living, monitoring health, managing financial affairs and overall well-being. At times, this can be quite overwhelming. Our hope is to ease your mind by providing you with information and resources to guide you in making informed decisions about the care of your loved one.

Where to Begin

It depends on the age of the individual at the onset of their disability. An individual identified as having a disability prior to the age of 18 would most likely begin receiving services in school. These services would be based on identified needs. In some cases, services are supplemented by agencies within the community and may need to continue into the adult years. An individual who is identified as having a disability after the age of 18 would be eligible for services based upon their diagnosis, identified needs, level of care, and specific service program requirements. In planning for services, it may mean bringing multiple programs together to build a plan of care needed for the individual.

Entitlement vs. Eligibility

Entitlement to programs and services applies to those diagnosed with a disability prior to the age of 18. Eligibility applies to those diagnosed after the age of 18; it means that the individual is not entitled to services, but must meet eligibility requirements to obtain services. Most often the requirements apply to those services supported by federal, state, and/or local funds. One support service that is most often overlooked is from organizations dedicated to a specific disability, such as the Parkinson’s Foundation, the National Multiple Sclerosis Society Maryland Chapter, or the Brain Injury Association of Maryland. Many of these organizations offer resources, services, and limited funding to assist with an individual’s care.

Persons 18-65 years of age with a documented disability or chronic health condition:

☐ Consult with a primary care physician or specialist regarding the individual’s diagnosis to determine medical, health, safety, and therapeutic needs.
☐ The diagnosis and the care needs of the individual will determine whether the services are to be rehabilitative (temporary) or long-term care.

Rehabilitative Services apply to individuals who are recovering from a temporary procedure, accident or injury, and are expected to make a full recovery.

• Income Benefits
  – Individuals are expected to use sick leave, sick leave bank or annual leave if available from their employer.

• Additional Assistance
  – Depending upon the loss of income, additional assistance may be available such as food stamps, energy assistance, and transportation. However, if the individual is expected to make a full recovery, this assistance would only be considered temporary. The recipient would also be responsible for reporting changes in income to the agency providing assistance. Contact the Aging & Disability Resource Center and/or Office on Aging – 410-638-3303.

Long-Term Care - If the individual's diagnosis places them in the category of permanently disabled, they may be eligible for the following benefits.

• Income Benefits
  – Long-term disability income may be available through the individual's place of employment; contact Human Resources.
  – Retirement benefits may be offered early if a permanent disability prevents the individual from working.
  – Social Security Income or Social Security Disability Income – contact Social Security Administration at 1-800-772-1213 or www.ssa.gov.

• Health Benefits
  – Health benefits may continue to be available through the individual's employer; contact Human Resources at their place of employment.
  – If an individual does not maintain health benefits through their employer, and there is a loss in income, he/she may be eligible for Medical Assistance; contact local Department of Social Services – www.dhr.state.md.us or 410-836-4700.

• Additional Assistance
  – Depending upon the severity of the disability and loss of income, additional assistance may be available, such as food stamps, energy or housing assistance, and transportation. Contact the Aging & Disability Resource Center and/or Office on Aging – 410-638-3303.
Caring For Those With Disabilities (continued)

Planning for Now and the Future

Circle of Support
Many of us rely on the support of others as we experience challenges in our lives. This support may come in a variety of circles that could include family, friends, neighbors, faith community, coworkers, and professionals who may provide us with a service.

A circle of support brings together people chosen to assist in determining needs, exploring options, and developing a plan of care for the individual with disabilities. A circle of support will vary as a result of current and future care needs and by the number of people directly involved in a person’s life. In some instances, assistance may be needed from a community agency or faith-based organization to help coordinate and/or facilitation of the circle.

A plan can be established with commitment from those involved to support the person in their care. This could be direct care or it could be coordination of the care provided by community agencies. However, if the care is to be implemented, it should be directed by the person receiving the care or by someone he/she has appointed.

Managing Personal Affairs
It is important for individuals receiving care to put their affairs in order in case of unexpected events. Take the time to plan and discuss their wishes. Placing one’s affairs in order is a vital part in the plan of care.

The following areas should be addressed:
- Medical – Determine who is to make medical decisions when the individual is not able to do so. Determine what measures are wanted to save and/or prolong life, such as being placed on life sustaining equipment. Determine what the individual wants done with their body after death. Documents to consider include: living will, DNR order (Do Not Resuscitate), and/or medical power of attorney.
- Financial – Determine who is to make financial decisions when the individual is unable to make them. Determine how finances and personal property are to be handled and what is to be done upon the person’s death. Documents to consider are: Social Security Representative Payee Form, living will, financial power of attorney, and Last Will and Testament.
- Legal – Determine who is to make all decisions when the individual is not able to make them. Determine how decisions are to be handled. Documents to consider: living will, guardianship of person and/or property, powers of attorney, and Last Will and Testament.
- End Of Life – Determine who is to carry out, or in some cases who may have to decide, what the individual would want after their death including what is to be done with the body, type of service or arrangements, and type of burial.

There are many resources available to aid in managing an individual’s personal affairs. Below are a few resources:
